FAQ:

What specific qualifications or prerequisites are needed for participants before enrolling in the course?

There are no mandatory prerequisites. However, experience in leadership, sales, procurement, or conflict management will enhance learning outcomes.

How long is each day's session, and is there a total number of hours required for the entire course?

Each day's session is generally structured to last around 4-5 hours, with breaks and interactive activities included. The total course duration spans five days, approximately 20-25 hours of instruction.

How do Kremlin negotiation strategies differ from Western models?

While Western negotiation models often focus on win-win outcomes, Kremlin strategies emphasise power dynamics, role perception, and cold logic, drawing on emotional restraint and psychological tactics. This method is less about compromise and more about strategic dominance and resilience.

How This Course is Different from Other Negotiation Courses:

This course is not just a theoretical model—it's a high-intensity, strategic simulation built on the practical application of Kremlin-style negotiation tactics. Unlike generic negotiation programs, this one leverages Soviet-era strategic behaviour, cold logic structures, and real-world simulation of hostile and high-stakes environments. From advanced leadership in negotiation to managing cross-cultural complexity and tough opponents, this program is designed for professionals who need to win when compromise is not an option. The method trains both the emotional core and the strategic brain of every negotiator.
